History of Scholarship

This scholarship is given by a donor who was the daughter of a former Rehoboth business manager (Houseman) who worked here back in the 1930's and 1940's. Although she lived on campus she had to attend the public school because the policy at that time only allowed Native American children to attend Rehoboth Mission School. Later, as a young adult, she married a Ligtenberg, one of 12 children. One of the other Ligtenberg brothers married Beatrice Bosscher, who was the daughter of the founder of Rehoboth, Jacob Bosscher. So the Lighthouse Scholarship is a combination of two last names from a couple who each had links to Rehoboth. This scholarship was established to help primarily Native American students from outlying areas that have a history with the Christian Reformed Church and have a financial need.
